

- ① The territories of California and New Mexico were about to become states. William Ballard Preston argued that they should become states first and decide on the question of slavery in each state after they gained statehood. Label California and New Mexico.
- ③ Label each of the states that seceded from the Union. Color them gray.
- ④ Label each state that stayed with the Union. Color them blue.
- ② We will consider 4 states "border states." This means they allowed slavery but stayed with the Union. Find and label Missouri, Kentucky, Maryland, and Delaware. Color them blue and gray stripes.
